DIRECTIVES OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL

Re-casting Directive 2000/12/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 20 March 2000 relating to the taking up and pursuit of the business of credit institutions and Council Directive 93/6/EEC of 15 March 1993 on the capital adequacy of investment firms and credit institutions.

{SEC(2004) 921}

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

1. GENERAL COMMENTS

A single financial market in the EU will be a key factor in promoting the competitiveness of the European economy and the lowering the capital cost to companies. The Financial Services Action Plan announces a directive on new capital adequacy rules for credit institutions and investment firms in 2004, in step with progress at G-10 level in the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision¹.

The agreement by the G-10 Basel Committee on Banking Supervision of the so-called Basel Accord in 1988 (Basel I) led to the adoption of minimum capital requirements across over 100 countries². It was broadly contemporaneous to the adoption of key EU directives (Directive 89/299/EEC of 17.4.1989 on own funds, Directive 89/647/EEC of 18.12.1989 on a solvency ratio, consolidated in Directive 2000/12/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 20.3.2000 relating to the taking up and pursuit of the business of credit institutions).

These directives addressed credit institutions' risks arising from credit-granting activities. Directive 93/6/EEC of 15.3.1993 on the capital adequacy of investment firms and credit institutions extended both the credit risk and market risk rules to investment firms.

1) The need for improved European requirements.

The existing rules have made a significant contribution to the single market and high prudential standards. However, various important shortcomings have been identified.

1. Crude estimates of credit risks result in an extremely crude measure of risk and is in danger of falling into disrepute.

2. Scope for capital arbitrage: innovations in markets have enabled financial institutions to effectively arbitrage the mismatch between institutions' own allocation of capital to risks and minimum capital requirements.

3. Lack of recognition of effective risk mitigation: the present Directives do not provide appropriate levels of recognition for risk mitigation techniques.

4. Incompleteness of the risks covered under the existing directives, including operational risk, which are not subject to any capital charges.

5. Absence of requirement for supervisors to evaluate the actual risk profile of credit institutions to satisfy themselves that adequate capital is held having regard to that risk profile.

² While formally agreed by the authorities of the G-10 group of industrialised countries for application to internationally active banks, the 1988 Accord has been applied throughout the world to banks of all sizes and levels of complexity.

6. Absence of requirement for supervisory cooperation: in an increasingly cross-border market authorities must cooperate effectively with each other in the supervision of cross-border groups to reduce regulatory burdens.

7. Absence of proper market disclosures: the present Directives do not facilitate effective market discipline for reliable information for market participants to make well-founded assessments.

8. Lack of flexibility in the regulatory framework: the current EU system lacks the flexibility to keep pace with rapid developments in financial markets and risk management practices, and with improvements in regulatory and supervisory tools.

What would happen under a “no policy change” scenario?

There is strong consensus that the present situation is unsustainable. Capital requirements and risks would continue to be misaligned resulting in limited effectiveness of the prudential rules and increased risks to consumers and financial stability. The full extent of the risks that some financial institutions are undertaking would still not be captured. In addition, the newest and most effective risk management techniques would not be actively encouraged or recognised and financial services groups operating in more than one Member State would continue to be subject to disproportionate burdens resulting from multiple layers of regulation and supervision. Finally, the EU would be unable to benefit appropriately from future developments, given the difficulty in speedily updating the current EU regulatory framework. In view of the proposed global implementation of the new Basel Accord the EU financial services sector would be significantly disadvantaged compared with its overseas competitors.

2) The approach of the Directive

The Commission’s 1998 Financial Services Action Plan stated that the EU needed accurate, internationally consistent, up to date prudential standards. They should also be proportionate recognising the reduction in risks arising from the context in which exposures are incurred, and in particular lending to consumers and to small- or medium-sized entities. Rules should apply to both credit institutions and investment firms (level playing field) but also need to be proportionate and take fully into account the ‘biodiversity’ of EU financial institutions.

2. CONSULTATION AND IMPACT ASSESSMENT

a) Consultation of stakeholders and interested parties

The Commission has been engaged in consultation with stakeholders and interested parties since November 1999. Three full consultation papers have been issued on 22.11.1999, 5.2.2001 and 1.7.2003. A full and structured dialogue with stakeholders was organised on 18.11.2002. Consultation papers on specific technical issues have been published (real estate and covered bonds on 7.4. 2003; ‘expected losses and unexpected losses’ on 26.11.2003; collective investment undertakings on 3.2.2004).

Commentators have generally been very supportive of the major objectives of the project. Enhanced risk-sensitivity leading to greater financial stability is supported and there is now a pressing need for the rules to be updated, to respond to the significant advances in techniques for risk measurement and management in financial services, and to reflect increased regulatory and supervisory sophistication. There is strong support for the Commission’s approach that the EU capital framework should be revised consistent with the new international framework but differentiated where necessary for EU specificities.

Less complex institutions

There is broad and significant support for the application of the new rules in Europe – to all credit institutions and investment services providers whatever the legal nature and complexity of the institution, also to avoid ‘second class’ institutions that would be likely to result if some were excluded. This reflects the perception that the proposed new framework has been well designed for the purposes of broad application.

Flexibility of the new directive

There is continued wide and strong support for the approach proposed to ensure that the new framework is responsive to market and supervisory innovation to maintain an optimally efficient and competitive EU financial services sector. Stakeholders support the approach where enduring principles and objectives are set out in the articles and provide the mandate for the more detailed and technical provisions contained in the annexes. The procedure for amending the annexes must ensure full and effective consultation with interested parties.

Investment firms

Significant modifications have been introduced to address concerns expressed by some from the investment firm sector about being subject to capital requirements which they perceive to be more appropriate for credit institutions.

Complexity

Some respondents asked for simplification and less prescription. The Commission has increased the clarity and user-friendliness of the text. The design will be attractive to those institutions seeking simple rules to apply or wishing to progress gradually to more complex capital rules. The proposed new framework contains a range of options and approaches of different degrees of sophistication.

Since 1999 there have also been several consultations on detailed issues. The proposal has been taken account of very detailed and useful comments from interested parties, in particular the banking and investment firm industry.

b) Impact assessment

An extended impact assessment has been carried out to identify whether there is a need for action at EU level and, if so, the action required.

The Basel Committee published a quantitative impact study (QIS3) involving credit institutions across 40 countries to assess the impact of the new Basel proposals on banks' minimum capital requirements. The Commission assisted in extending this study to EU countries not represented in Basel. The key conclusions were that the new rules will in general reduce capital requirements for EU credit institutions by around 5% compared to present levels. Furthermore, the outcomes for the different approaches are in line with objectives – particularly combining capital neutrality with appropriate incentives for institutions to move towards more sophisticated approaches. Finally, smaller domestic credit institutions adopting the simple approach will face slightly reduced capital charges; larger internationally active credit institutions adopting the more advanced approach will face substantially unchanged capital charges; smaller but specialised and sophisticated EU credit institutions adopting the advanced approach might face substantially lower capital requirements than at present. Importantly, the main source of reduction in capital requirements is the ‘retail’ portfolio, which is mostly composed of loans to Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs) below EUR 1 million and residential mortgage loans. The new operational risk capital charge is the main source of offset of this decrease in capital requirements for credit institutions.

In addition, at the request of the Barcelona European Council the Commission commissioned a study on the consequences of the draft proposed new capital requirements for credit institutions and investment firms in the EU³. The final report, prepared by PricewaterhouseCoopers, is positive about the impact (with only two areas of criticism – investment firms and venture capital - both of which have been addressed in the Commission’s proposals).⁴ The key conclusions are that the new capital requirements framework should be positive for the EU, and for prudential regulation in the EU. EU credit institutions’ capital requirements should decrease by $\pm 5\%$ (€ 90 billion) and translate into an annual increase in profits of $\pm \text{€ } 10\text{-}12$ billion. There is no disadvantage for smaller credit institutions and no indication that the new regime will force mergers or consolidation. The decision to cover all credit institutions in the directive will not put EU firms at a competitive disadvantage, nor is the US decision to apply only advanced approaches to some 20 big credit institutions a significant competitive factor. Implementation costs for EU credit institutions are not solely driven by Basel II and many of these investments (perhaps as high as 80%) would have happened anyway, although over a longer period. Importantly, there will be no negative impact on the availability and cost of finance for SMEs in most EU Member States (‘procyclicality’ effects are less - and less damaging - than the present rules). SME fears stem from insufficient information understanding of Basel II. The macro-economic effects of Basel II on the EU-economy are small - there could be a benign supply-side shock to the economy reducing the cost of capital to firms and generating an increase of 0.07% in EU GDP. In general the new capital framework will reduce the banking system’s vulnerability through greater awareness of risk, improved risk management, and a more efficient allocation of capital should have beneficial long-run consequences for the EU economy.

3. LEGAL BASIS

The proposals are based on Article 47(2) of the Treaty, which is the legal basis to adopt Community measures aimed at achieving the Internal Market in financial services. The chosen instrument is a Directive as the most appropriate to achieve the objectives and it amends existing directives covering the same technical issues. Its provisions do not go beyond what it is necessary to achieve the objectives pursued.

4. COMMENTS ON THE ARTICLES

The proposals apply the ‘re-casting technique’ (Interinstitutional Agreement 2002/C 77/01) enabling substantive amendments to existing legislation without a self-standing amending directive. This reduces complexity and makes EU legislation more accessible and comprehensible.

Amendments of a non-substantive nature are made to many provisions to improve the structure, drafting and readability of the directives.

A. DIRECTIVE 2000/12/EC

Article 4: Definitions

Article 4 contains certain new definitions concerning essential concepts to clarify their meaning and contribute to a better understanding.

Article 22:

The existing wording has been amended to clarify and develop the obligation for credit institutions to have in place effective internal risk management systems. Given the diversity of credit institutions covered, these requirements will have to be met on a proportionate basis. Relevant technical provisions are in Annex V.

Articles 56-67:

A small number of amendments have been made. Although it is not intended to review the definition of ‘own funds’, as a consequence of the modified approach to expected loss in the Basel Committee (‘Madrid decision’), some limited amendments are necessary.

Articles 68-75:

Credit institutions must hold adequate own funds on an ongoing basis and state the minimum level of those own funds. The provisions specify how the requirements should be met if the credit institution is part of a group (the existing option for Member States’ authorities to waive certain requirements has been retained but with more precision). The calculation of the requirements has been clarified in the light of the introduction of Regulation (EC) no.1606/2002 on international accounting standards.

Articles 76-101:

These provisions replace the existing solvency ratio requirements for credit risk and introduce two methods to calculate risk weighted exposure amounts.

The Standardised Approach (Art. 78-83) is based on the existing framework, with risk weights determined by the allocation of assets and off-balance sheet items to a limited number of risk buckets. Risk sensitivity has been increased by the number of exposure classes and risk buckets (Art. 79). There are lower risk weights for non-mortgage retail items (75%) and residential mortgages (35%). A 150% risk weight for assets which are 90 days past due (100% for residential mortgages) is introduced. The use of credit rating agencies’ ratings to assign risk weights where these are available (‘external ratings’) is permitted (Art 81-83). Relevant technical provisions are in Annex VI.

The Internal Ratings Based (IRB) approach (Art 84-89), permits credit institutions to use their own estimates of the risk parameters inherent in their different credit risk exposures. These parameters form the inputs into a prescribed calculation designed to provide soundness to a 99.9% confidence level. The ‘Foundation’ Approach allows credit institutions to use their own estimates of probability of default, while using regulatory prescribed values for other risk components. Under the ‘Advanced’ Approach, credit institutions may use their own estimates for losses given default and their exposure at default. Credit institutions are allowed to use pooled data in the estimation of risk parameter values. This allows smaller credit institutions to apply a more risk sensitive approach to calculating capital requirements.

The proposed ‘roll-out’ rules (Art. 85) for the IRB approach provide flexibility for credit institutions to move different business lines and exposure classes to the Foundation or the Advanced IRB Approach during a reasonable timeframe. ‘Partial’ use is allowed for non-material exposure classes and business lines (capital requirements can be calculated under the Standardised Approach even if a credit institution uses the IRB Approach for other exposure classes). The proposed EU framework recognises that, for small credit institutions the requirement to develop a rating system for certain counterparties is potentially very burdensome. Permanent partial use for these exposure classes is proposed even in cases where credit institutions’ exposures to such counterparts are material (Art. 89).

Relevant technical provisions for the IRB approach are in Annex VI.

Articles 90-93:

The rules identify common issues for mitigation techniques and treat common underlying risks or economic effects consistently. These include the recognition of a wider range of collateral and guarantee/credit derivative providers than at present. The IRB Foundation Approach gives a prudentially appropriate level of recognition to financial receivables and physical collateral. Alternative methodologies are available for credit institutions to choose between methods of different levels of complexity (a Simple Method – based on an easy-to-use ‘risk weight substitution’ approach; or a Comprehensive Method – involving the application of volatility adjustments to the value of the collateral received). To calculate volatility adjustments more and less complex approaches are made available (a simple ‘Supervisory’ approach where the amounts of the benchmark volatility adjustments are set out in a table; or a more risk-sensitive ‘Own Estimates’ approach). Relevant technical provisions are in Annex VIII.

Articles 94-101:

These articles introduce for the first time a harmonised set of rules for capital requirements for securitisation activities and investments. This provides a significantly improved capital requirements framework – allowing credit institutions to take advantage of the funding, balance-sheet management and other advantages that such transactions can deliver. It will also reduce the extent to which securitisation has been seen as an instrument of capital arbitrage. Relevant technical provisions are in Annex IX.

Articles 102-105:

These provisions introduce requirements to meet the operational risk faced by credit institutions. Three different methodologies are available. A simple approach (Art. 103) based on a single income indicator (Basic Indicator Approach - BIA). This approach provides a capital buffer against operational risk, without requiring credit institutions to develop sophisticated and costly information systems about their risk exposure. A more precise approach based on business lines (Standardised Approach - STA) (Art. 104) is more risk-sensitive as the capital requirement for operational risk is differentiated to reflect the relative risks of different business lines. This approach is likely to be attractive to a large number of smaller / less complex credit institutions. More sophisticated methodologies (Advanced Measurement Approaches - AMAs) (Art. 105) generate their own measures of operational risk, subject to more demanding risk management standards. AMAs are expected to be gradually adopted mainly by large internationally active credit institutions and smaller specialised credit institutions which have developed advanced risk monitoring systems for their main activities. Relevant technical provisions are in Annex X.

Articles 106-119:

A small number of amendments bring consistency between capital requirements and the large exposures rules, in particular to reflect the expanded recognition of credit risk mitigation techniques.

Article 123-124:

These Articles reflect the second ‘pillar’ of the Basel Committee’s capital accord. Art. 51A requires credit institutions to have in place internal processes to measure and manage their risk and the amount of ‘internal’ capital they themselves deem adequate to support those risks. Competent authorities are required (Art. 124) to review compliance by credit institutions with the various legal obligations for organisation and risk control, and to evaluate the risks taken by credit institutions. This assessment will be used by supervisors to determine whether weaknesses exist in controls and capital held. Relevant technical provisions are in Annex XIII.

Articles 125-143:

There is an increasing degree of EU cross-border business and a trend towards centralisation of risk management within cross-border groups. This requires improved coordination and cooperation amongst national supervisory authorities in the EU. The existing and well established role of the consolidating supervisor has thus been developed further. Under Art. 136 supervisors will be provided with a minimum harmonised range of powers to require credit institutions to address any inadequacies in the requirements of the Directive.

Article 144:

A minimum set of disclosure requirements exists for Member States’ authorities to enhance convergence of implementation and introduce transparency.

Articles 145-149:

These provisions reflect the ‘third’ pillar of the Basel Committee’s new capital accord. The disclosure of information by credit institutions to market participants contributes to greater financial soundness and stability, maintains a level playing field and respects the sensitivity of certain information. Art. 147 requires disclosure on a minimum annual basis for most credit institutions - more frequent disclosure may be necessary in the light of specific criteria. Relevant technical provisions are in Annex XII.

Article 150:

The Directive needs to keep pace with market developments. The necessary degree of flexibility is provided by making a distinction between core and technical rules (particularly in the annexes to the directive) that may need adaptations in the short to medium term. Art. 150 adds new technical areas to those in Directive 2000/12/EC (introduced in 1989) and proposes that the new technical Annexes should be able to be modified following the same rapid procedure.

B. DIRECTIVE 93/6/EEC ON THE CAPITAL ADEQUACY OF INVESTMENTS FIRMS AND CREDIT INSTITUTIONS

Article 2: Scope

Article 2 specifies how the requirements apply to individual investment firms, groups of investment firms, and mixed groups.

Article 3: Definitions

There are certain new and amended definitions on essential concepts to clarify their meaning and contribute to a better understanding.

Article 11: Trading book capital treatment

There is an enhanced definition of the 'trading book' to increase certainty as to the capital requirements that apply and to restrict possible arbitrage between the 'banking book' / 'trading book' boundary. Relevant technical provisions are set out in Annex VII.

Articles 18 and 20:

Article 18 prescribes, for credit institutions and investment firms, the minimum capital requirements for market risk. The treatment of positions in collective investment undertakings and credit derivatives and a number of other modifications for increased risk-sensitivity are new. Relevant technical provisions are in Annexes I to VII. Article 20 extends the rules on capital requirements for credit risk and operational risk in Directive 2000/12 to investment firms, as at present. New credit risk elements include the provision of a treatment for credit derivatives and an amended measure of exposure for repurchase transactions and securities/commodities financing transactions. For operational risk there are significant modifications to take account of the specific features of the investment firm sector, with an option to continue the 'Expenditure Based Requirement' for investment firms falling into the low-, medium- and medium/high-risk categories.

Article 28: Large exposures

The current situation is continued where credit institutions and investment firms are subject to the same rules, subject to modifications to large exposures for trading book transactions. A new element is an amended measure of exposure for repurchase transactions and securities/commodities financing transactions. Relevant technical provisions are in Annex VI.

Article 33: Valuation of positions for reporting

Enhanced requirements for the valuation of trading book positions are prescribed for prudential soundness in the context of rules designed for trading book positions to be priced on a daily basis. Relevant technical provisions are in Annex VII.

Article 22: Consolidated requirements

The existing option for competent authorities to waive the application of consolidated requirements for groups consisting of investment firms is continued subject to more prudentially sound conditions.

Article 34: Risk management and capital assessment

Article 34 incorporates the obligation for credit institutions (Article 17 of Directive 2000/12), for investment firms to have in place effective internal risk management systems. Given the diversity of the institutions covered, these requirements will have to be met on a proportionate basis. It also applies the requirement in Article 51A of Directive 2000/12 to investment firms to have internal processes to measure and manage the risk they are exposed to and the amount of capital ('internal' capital) they deem adequate to support those risks. It adds to the existing risk management requirements for investment firms in Directive 2004/39/EC.

Article 37: Supervision

This Article applies the rules in Directive 2000/12 mutatis mutandis to investment firms.

Article 42

As for Directive 2000/12, Directive 93/6 need to keep pace with market developments. The necessary flexibility is brought by distinguishing between core and technical rules (particularly in the annexes) that will need adaptations in the short to medium run. The technical Annexes should be able to be modified following a rapid procedure. To reflect expected further important developments in regulatory practice in the coming years, a review clause is included for the treatment of counterparty risk.

- (34) It is essential to take account of the diversity of credit institutions in the Community by providing alternative approaches to the calculation of minimum capital requirements for credit risk incorporating different levels of risk-sensitivity and requiring different degrees of sophistication. Use of external ratings and credit institutions' own estimates of individual credit risk parameters represents a significant enhancement in the risk-sensitivity and prudential soundness of the credit risk rules. There should be appropriate incentives for credit institutions to move towards the more risk-sensitive approaches.

- (35) The minimum capital requirements should be proportionate to the risks addressed. In particular the reduction in risk levels deriving from having a large number of relatively small exposures should be reflected in the requirements.
- (36) Increased recognition should be given to techniques of credit risk mitigation within a framework of rules designed to ensure that solvency is not undermined by undue recognition.
- (37) In order to ensure that the risks and risk reductions arising from credit institutions' securitisation activities and investments are appropriately reflected in the minimum capital requirements of credit institutions it is necessary to include rules providing for a risk-sensitive and prudentially sound treatment of such activities and investments.

~~Annex III lays down the treatment of off-balance sheet items in the context of the calculation of credit institutions' capital requirements. With a view to the smooth functioning of the internal market and in particular with a view to ensuring a level playing field Member States are obliged to strive for uniform assessment of contractual netting agreements by their competent authorities. Annex III takes account of the work of an international forum of banking supervisors on the supervisory recognition of bilateral netting, in particular the possibility of calculating the own funds requirements for certain transactions on the basis of a net rather than a gross amount provided that there are legally binding agreements which ensure that the credit risk is confined to the net amount. For internationally active credit institutions and groups of credit institutions in a wide range of third countries, which compete with Community credit institutions, the rules adopted on the wider international level will result in a refined supervisory treatment of over the counter (OTC) derivative instruments. This refinement results in a more appropriate compulsory capital cover taking into account the risk-reducing effects of supervisorily recognised contractual netting agreements on potential future credit risks. The clearing of OTC derivative instruments provided by clearing houses acting as a central counterparty plays an important role in certain Member States. It is appropriate to recognise the benefits from such a clearing in terms of a reduction of credit risk and related systemic risk in the prudential treatment of credit risk. It is necessary for the current and potential future exposures arising from cleared OTC derivatives contracts to be fully collateralised and for the risk of a build-up of the clearing house's exposures beyond the market value of posted collateral to be eliminated in order for cleared OTC derivatives to be granted for a transitional period the same prudential treatment as exchange-traded derivatives. The competent authorities must be satisfied as to the level of the initial margins and variation margins required and the quality of and the level of protection provided by the posted collateral. For credit institutions incorporated in the Member States, Annex III creates a similar possibility for the recognition of bilateral netting by the competent authorities and thereby offers them equal conditions of competition. The rules are both well-balanced and appropriate for the further reinforcement of the application of prudential supervisory measures to credit institutions. The competent authorities in the Member States should ensure that the calculation of add-ons is based on effective rather than apparent national amounts.~~

(38) Operational risk is a significant risk faced by credit institutions requiring coverage by own funds. It is essential to take account of the diversity of credit institutions in the Community by providing alternative approaches to the calculation of operational risk requirements incorporating different levels of risk-sensitivity and requiring different degrees of sophistication. There should be appropriate incentives for credit institutions to move towards the more risk-sensitive approaches. In view of the emerging state of the art for the measurement and management of operational risk the rules should be kept under review and updated as appropriate including in relation to the charges for different business lines and the recognition of risk mitigation techniques.

(39) In order to ensure adequate solvency of credit institutions within a group it is essential that the minimum capital requirements apply on the basis of the consolidated financial situation of the group. In order to ensure that own funds are appropriately distributed within the group and available to protect savings where needed, the minimum capital requirements should apply to individual credit institutions within a group, unless this objective can be effectively otherwise achieved.

~~Article 36 (1) of this Directive permits joint and several commitments of borrowers in the case of credit institutions organised as cooperative societies or funds to be treated as own funds items under Article 34 (2)(7). The Danish Government has expressed a strong interest in having its few mortgage credit institutions organised as cooperative societies or funds converted into public limited liability companies. In order to facilitate the conversion or to make it possible, a temporary derogation allowing them to include part of their joint and several commitments as own funds is required. ~~(69) The application of a 20% weighting to credit institutions' holdings of mortgage bonds may unsettle a national financial market on which such instruments play a preponderant role. In this case, provisional measures are taken to apply a 10% risk weighting. The market for securitisation is undergoing rapid development. It is therefore desirable that the Commission should examine with the Member States the prudential treatment of asset backed securities and put forward, before 22 June 1999, proposals aimed at adapting existing legislation in order to define an appropriate prudential treatment for asset backed securities. The competent authorities may authorise a 50% weighting to assets secured by mortgages on offices or on multipurpose commercial premises until 31 December 2006. The property to which the mortgage relates must be subject to rigorous assessment criteria and regular revaluation to take account of the developments in the commercial property market. The property must be either occupied or let by the owner. Loans for property development are excluded from this 50% weighting.~~

~~(70) In order to ensure harmonious application of the provisions on large exposures, Member States should be allowed to provide for the two stage application of the new limits. ~~SECTION 2~~

~~SOLVENCY RATIO~~

~~Article 40~~

~~General principles~~

~~1. The solvency ratio expresses own funds, as defined in Article 41, as a proportion of total assets and off-balance sheet items, risk-adjusted in accordance with Article 42.~~

~~2. The solvency ratios of credit institutions which are neither parent undertakings as defined in Article 1 of Directive 83/349/EEC, nor subsidiaries of such undertakings shall be calculated on an individual basis.~~

~~3. The solvency ratios of credit institutions which are parent undertakings shall be calculated on a consolidated basis in accordance with the methods laid down in this Directive and in Directive 86/635/EEC.~~

~~4. The competent authorities responsible for authorising and supervising a parent undertaking which is a credit institution may also require the calculation of a subconsolidated or unconsolidated ratio in respect of that parent undertaking and of any of its subsidiaries which are subject to authorisation and supervision by them. Where such monitoring of the satisfactory allocation of capital within a banking group is not carried out, other measures must be taken to attain that end.~~

~~5. Without prejudice to credit institutions' compliance with the requirements of paragraphs 2, 3 and 4, and of Article 52(8) and (9), the competent authorities shall ensure that ratios are calculated not less than twice each year, either by credit institutions themselves, which shall communicate the results and any component data required to the competent authorities, or by the competent authorities, using data supplied by the credit institutions.~~

~~6. The valuation of assets and off-balance sheet items shall be effected in accordance with Directive 86/635/EEC.~~

~~Article 41~~

~~The numerator: own funds~~

~~Own funds as defined in this Directive shall form the numerator of the solvency ratio.~~

~~Article 42~~

~~The denominator: risk-adjusted assets and off-balance sheet items~~

~~1. Degrees of credit risk, expressed as percentage weightings, shall be assigned to asset items in accordance with Articles 43 and 44, and exceptionally Articles 45, 62 and 63. The balance-sheet value of each asset shall then be multiplied by the relevant weighting to produce a risk-adjusted value.~~

~~2. In the case of the off-balance sheet items listed in Annex II, a two-stage calculation as prescribed in Article 43(2) shall be used.~~

~~3. In the case of the off-balance sheet items referred to in Article 43(3), the potential costs of replacing contracts in the event of counterparty default shall be calculated by means of one of the two methods set out in Annex III. Those costs shall be multiplied by the relevant counterparty weightings in Article 43(1), except the 100% weightings as provided for there shall be replaced by 50% weightings to produce risk-adjusted values.~~

~~4. The total of the risk-adjusted values of the assets and off-balance sheet items mentioned in paragraphs 2 and 3 shall be the denominator of the solvency ratio.~~

~~Risk weightings~~

~~1. The following weightings shall be applied to the various categories of asset items, although the competent authorities may fix higher weightings as they see fit:~~

The competent authorities must in particular be satisfied that:~~

~~(i) such securities are fully and directly backed by a pool of mortgages which are of the same nature as those defined in the first subparagraph or in Article 62(1) and are fully performing when the mortgage-backed securities are created;~~

~~(ii) an acceptable high-priority charge on the underlying mortgage-asset items is held either directly by investors in mortgage-backed securities or on their behalf by a trustee or mandated representative in the same proportion to the securities which they hold;~~

~~(2) prepayments and accrued income: these assets shall be subject to the weighting corresponding to the counterparty where a credit institution is able to determine it in accordance with Directive 86/635/EEC. Otherwise, where it is unable to determine the counterparty, it shall apply a flat rate weighting of 50%;~~

- ~~(7) all other assets except where deducted from own funds.~~

~~2. The following treatment shall apply to off-balance sheet items other than those covered in paragraph 3. They shall first be grouped according to the risk groupings set out in Annex II. The full value of the full risk items shall be taken into account, 50% of the value of the medium risk items and 20% of the medium/low risk items, while the value of low risk items shall be set at zero. The second stage shall be to multiply the off balance sheet values, adjusted as described above, by the weightings attributable to the relevant counterparties in accordance with the treatment of asset items prescribed in paragraph 1 and Article 44. In the case of asset sale and repurchase agreements and outright forward purchases, the weightings shall be those attaching to the assets in question and not to the counterparties to the transactions. The portion of unpaid capital subscribed to the European Investment Fund may be weighted at 20%.~~

~~3. The methods set out in Annex III shall be applied to the off-balance sheet items listed in Annex IV except for:~~

~~contracts traded on recognised exchanges;~~

~~foreign exchange contracts (except contracts concerning gold) with an original maturity of 14 calendar days or less.~~

~~Until 31 December 2006, the competent authorities of Member States may exempt from the application of the methods set out in Annex III over-the-counter (OTC) contracts cleared by a clearing house where the latter acts as the legal counterparty and all participants fully collateralise on a daily basis the exposure they present to the clearing house, thereby providing a protection covering both the current exposure and the potential future exposure. The competent authorities must be satisfied that the posted collateral gives the same level of protection as collateral which complies with paragraph 1(a)(7) and that the risk of a build-up of the clearing house's exposures beyond the market value of posted collateral is eliminated. Member States shall inform the Commission of the use they make of this option.~~

~~4. Where off-balance sheet items carry explicit guarantees, they shall be weighted as if they had been incurred on behalf of the guarantor rather than the counterparty. Where the potential exposure arising from off-balance sheet transactions is fully and completely secured, to the satisfaction of the competent authorities, by any of the asset items recognised as collateral in paragraph 1(a)(7) and (b)(11), weightings of 0% or 20% shall apply depending on the collateral in question.~~

~~The Member States may apply a 50% weighting to off-balance sheet items which are sureties or guarantees having the character of credit substitutes and which are fully guaranteed, to the satisfaction of the competent authorities, by mortgages meeting the conditions set out in paragraph 1(c)(1), subject to the guarantor having a direct right to such collateral.~~

~~5. Where asset and off-balance sheet items are given a lower weighting because of the existence of explicit guarantees or collateral acceptable to the competent authorities, the lower weighting shall apply only to that part which is guaranteed or which is fully covered by the collateral.~~

Weighting of claims for regional governments or local authorities of the Member States

~~1. Notwithstanding the requirements of Article 43(1)(b), the Member States may fix a weighting of 0% for their own regional governments and local authorities if there is no difference in risk between claims on the latter and claims on their central governments because of the revenue-raising powers of the regional governments and local authorities and the existence of specific institutional arrangements the effect of which is to reduce the chances of default by the latter. A zero weighting fixed in accordance with these criteria shall apply to claims on and off-balance sheet items incurred on behalf of the regional governments and local authorities in question and claims on others and off-balance sheet items incurred on behalf of others and guaranteed by those regional governments and local authorities or secured, to the satisfaction of the competent authorities concerned, by collateral in the form of securities issued by those regional governments or local authorities.~~

~~2. The Member States shall notify the Commission if they believe a zero weighting to be justified according to the criteria laid down in paragraph 1. The Commission shall circulate that information. Other Member States may offer the credit institutions under the supervision of their competent authorities the possibility of applying a zero weighting where they undertake business with the regional governments or local authorities in question or where they hold claims guaranteed by the latter, including collateral in the form of securities.~~

Other weighting

~~1. Without prejudice to Article 44(1) the Member States may apply a weighting of 20% to asset items which are secured, to the satisfaction of the competent authorities concerned, by collateral in the form of securities issued by Zone A regional governments or local authorities, by deposits placed with Zone A credit institutions other than the lending institution, or by certificates of deposit or similar instruments issued by such credit institutions.~~

~~2. The Member States may apply a weighting of 10% to claims on institutions specialising in the inter-bank and public-debt markets in their home Member States and subject to close supervision by the competent authorities where those asset items are fully and completely secured, to the satisfaction of the competent authorities of the home Member States, by a combination of asset items mentioned in Article 43(1)(a) and (b) recognised by the latter as constituting adequate collateral.~~

~~3. The Member States shall notify the Commission of any provisions adopted pursuant to paragraphs 1 and 2 and of the grounds for such provisions. The Commission shall forward that information to the Member States. The Commission shall periodically examine the implications of those provisions in order to ensure that they do not result in any distortions of competition.~~

~~Article 46~~

~~Administrative bodies and non-commercial undertakings~~

~~For the purposes of Article 43 (1)(b), the competent authorities may include within the concept of regional governments and local authorities non-commercial administrative bodies responsible to regional governments or local authorities or authorities which, in the view of the competent authorities, exercise the same responsibilities as regional and local authorities.~~

~~The competent authorities may also include within the concept of regional governments and local authorities, churches and religious communities constituted in the form of a legal person under public law, in so far as they raise taxes in accordance with legislation conferring on them the right to do so. However, in this case the option set out in Article 44 shall not apply.~~

~~Article 47~~

~~Solvency ratio level~~

~~1. Credit institutions shall be required permanently to maintain the ratio defined in Article 40 at a level of at least 8%.~~

~~2. Notwithstanding paragraph 1, the competent authorities may prescribe higher minimum ratios as they consider appropriate.~~

~~3. If the ratio falls below 8% the competent authorities shall ensure that the credit institution in question takes appropriate measures to restore the ratio to the agreed minimum as quickly as possible.~~

SECTION 3MINIMUM OWN FUNDS REQUIREMENTS FOR CREDIT RISKArticle 76*

Credit institutions shall apply either the Standardised Approach provided for in Articles 78 to 83 or, if permitted by the competent authorities in accordance with Article 84, the Internal Ratings Based Approach provided for in Articles 84 to 89 to calculate their risk-weighted exposure amounts for the purposes of Article 75(a).

Article 77

“Exposure” for the purposes of this Section means an asset or off-balance sheet item.

SUBSECTION 1 – STANDARDISED APPROACH*Article 78*

1. Subject to paragraph 2, the exposure value of an asset item shall be its balance-sheet value and the exposure value of an off-balance sheet item listed in Annex II shall be the following percentage of its value: 100% if it is a full-risk item, 50% if it is a medium-risk item, 20% if it is a medium/low-risk item, 0% if its is a low-risk item. The off-balance sheet items referred to in the first sentence of this paragraph shall be assigned to risk categories as indicated in Annex II.
2. The exposure value of a derivative instrument listed in Annex IV shall be determined in accordance with one of the two methods set out in Annex III with the effects of contracts of novation and other netting agreements taken into account for the purposes of those methods in accordance with Annex III.
3. Where an exposure is subject to funded credit protection, the exposure value applicable to that item may be modified in accordance with Subsection 3.
4. In the case of a credit institution using the Financial Collateral Comprehensive Method under Annex VIII, Part 3, where an exposure takes the form of securities or commodities sold, posted or lent under a repurchase transaction or under a securities or commodities lending or borrowing transaction, the exposure value shall be the value of the securities or commodities determined in accordance with Article 74(1) and shall be increased by the volatility adjustment appropriate to such securities or commodities as prescribed in Annex VIII, Part 3, paragraphs 35 to 60.

Article 79

1. Each exposure shall be assigned to one of the following exposure classes:
 - (a) claims or contingent claims on central governments or central banks;
 - (b) claims or contingent claims on regional governments or local authorities;
 - (c) claims or contingent claims on administrative bodies and non-commercial undertakings;
 - (d) claims or contingent claims on multilateral development banks;
 - (e) claims or contingent claims on international organisations;
 - (f) claims or contingent claims on institutions;
 - (g) claims or contingent claims on corporates;
 - (h) retail claims or contingent retail claims;
 - (i) claims or contingent claims secured on real estate property;
 - (j) past due items;
 - (k) items belonging to regulatory high-risk categories;
 - (l) claims in the form of covered bonds;
 - (m) securitisation positions;
 - (n) short-term claims on institutions and corporate;
 - (o) claims in the form of collective investment undertakings (CIU);
 - (p) other items.
2. To be eligible for the retail exposure class referred to in point (h) of paragraph 1, an exposure shall meet the following conditions:
 - (a) the exposure must be either to an individual person or persons, or to a small or medium sized entity;
 - (b) the exposure must be one of a significant number of exposures with similar characteristics such that the risks associated with such lending are substantially reduced;
 - (c) the total amount owed to the credit institution and any parent undertaking and its subsidiaries, including any past due exposure, by the obligor client or group of connected clients must not, to the knowledge of the credit institution, exceed EUR 1 million. The credit institution must take reasonable steps to acquire this knowledge.

Securities shall not be eligible for the retail exposure class.

Article 80

1. To calculate risk-weighted exposure amounts, risk weights shall be applied to all exposures, unless deducted from own funds, in accordance with the provisions of Annex VI, Part 1. The application of risk weights shall be based on the exposure class to which the exposure is assigned and, to the extent specified in Annex VI, Part 1, its credit quality. Credit quality may be determined by reference to the credit assessments of External Credit Assessment Institutions ('ECAIs') in accordance with the provisions of Articles 81 to 83 or the credit assessments of Export Credit Agencies as described in Annex VI, Part 1.
2. For the purposes of applying a risk weight, as referred to in paragraph 1, the exposure value shall be multiplied by the risk weight specified or determined in accordance with this Subsection.
3. For the purposes of calculating risk-weighted exposure amounts for exposures to institutions, competent authorities shall decide whether to adopt the method based on the credit quality of the central government of the jurisdiction in which the credit institution is incorporated or the method based on the credit quality of the counterparty institution in accordance with Annex VI.
4. Notwithstanding paragraph 1, where an exposure is subject to credit protection the risk weight applicable to that item may be modified in accordance with Subsection 3.
5. Risk-weighted exposure amounts for securitised exposures shall be calculated in accordance with Subsection 4.
6. Exposures the calculation of risk-weighted exposure amounts for which is not otherwise provided for under this Subsection shall be assigned a risk-weight of 100%.
7. With the exception of exposures giving rise to liabilities in the form of the items referred to in points (1) to (8) of Article 57(1), competent authorities may exempt from the requirements of paragraph 1 of this Article the exposures of a credit institution to a counterparty which is its parent undertaking, its subsidiary or a subsidiary of its parent undertaking, provided that the following conditions are met:
 - (a) the counterparty is an institution or a financial holding company, financial institution, asset management company or ancillary services undertaking subject to appropriate prudential requirements;
 - (b) the counterparty is included in the same consolidation as the credit institution on a full basis;
 - (c) the counterparty is subject to the same risk evaluation, measurement and control procedures as the credit institution;
 - (d) the counterparty is established in the same Member State as the credit institution;

- (e) there is no current or foreseen material or legal impediment to the prompt transfer of own funds or repayment of liabilities from the counterparty to the credit institution.

In such a case, a risk weight of 0% shall be applied.

Article 81

1. An external credit assessment may be used to determine the risk weight of an exposure in accordance with Article 80 only if the ECAI which provides it has been recognised as eligible for those purposes by the competent authorities, hereinafter “an eligible ECAI”.
2. Competent authorities shall recognise an ECAI as eligible for the purposes of Article 80 only if they are satisfied that its assessment methodology complies with the requirements of objectivity, independence, ongoing review and transparency, and that the resulting credit assessments meet the requirements of credibility and transparency. For those purposes; the competent authorities shall take into account the technical criteria set out in Annex VI, Part 2.
3. If an ECAI has been recognised as eligible by the competent authorities of a Member State, the competent authorities of other Member States may recognise that ECAI as eligible without carrying out their own evaluation process.
4. Competent authorities shall make publicly available an explanation of the recognition process, and a list of eligible ECAIs.

Article 82

1. The competent authorities shall determine, taking into account the technical criteria set out in Annex VI, Part 2, with which of the credit quality steps set out in Part 1 of that Annex the relevant credit assessments of an eligible ECAI are to be associated. Those determinations shall be objective and consistent.
2. When the competent authorities of a Member State have made a determination under paragraph 1, the competent authorities of other Member States may recognise that determination without carrying out their own determination process.

Article 83

1. The use of ECAI credit assessments for the calculation of a credit institution’s risk-weighted exposure amounts shall be consistent and in accordance with Annex VI, Part 3. Credit assessments shall not be used selectively.
2. Credit institutions shall use solicited credit assessments. However, with the permission of the relevant competent authority, they may use unsolicited assessments.

SUBSECTION 2 - INTERNAL RATINGS BASED APPROACH

Article 84

1. In accordance with this Subsection, the competent authorities may permit credit institutions to calculate their risk-weighted exposure amounts using the Internal Ratings Based Approach (IRB Approach). Explicit permission shall be required in the case of each credit institution.
2. Permission shall be given only if the competent authority is satisfied that the credit institution's systems for the management and rating of credit risk exposures are sound and implemented with integrity and, in particular, that they meet the following standards in accordance with Annex VII, Part 4:
 - (a) the credit institution's rating systems provide for a meaningful assessment of obligor and transaction characteristics, a meaningful differentiation of risk and accurate and consistent quantitative estimates of risk;
 - (b) internal ratings and default and loss estimates used in the calculation of capital requirements and associated systems and processes play an essential role in the risk management and decision-making process, and in the credit approval, internal capital allocation and corporate governance functions of the credit institution;
 - (c) the credit institution has a credit risk control unit responsible for its rating systems that is appropriately independent and free from undue influence;
 - (d) the credit institution collects and stores all relevant data to provide effective support to its credit risk measurement and management process;
 - (e) the credit institution documents its rating systems, the rationale for their design and validates its rating systems.

Where an EU parent credit institution and its subsidiaries or an EU parent financial institution and its subsidiaries use the IRB Approach on a unified basis for the parent and its subsidiaries, the competent authorities may allow minimum requirements of Annex VII, Part 4 to be met by the parent and its subsidiaries considered together.

3. A credit institution applying for the use of the IRB Approach shall demonstrate that it has been using for the IRB exposure classes in question rating systems that were broadly in line with the minimum requirements set out in this Annex for internal risk measurement and management purposes for at least three years prior to its qualification to use the IRB Approach. This requirement shall apply from the 31 December 2010 onwards.
4. A credit institution applying for the use of own estimates of LGDs and/or conversion factors shall demonstrate that it has been estimating and employing own estimates of LGDs and/or conversion factors in a manner that was broadly consistent with the minimum requirements for use of own estimates of those parameters set out in this Annex for at least three years prior to qualification to use own estimates of LGDs and/or conversion factors. This requirement shall apply from the 31 December 2010 onwards.

5. If a credit institution ceases to comply with the requirements set out in this Subsection, it shall either present to the competent authority a plan for a timely return to compliance or demonstrate that the effect of non-compliance is immaterial.
6. When the IRB Approach is intended to be used by the EU parent credit institution and its subsidiaries, or by the EU parent financial holding company and its subsidiaries, the competent authorities of the different legal entities shall co-operate closely as provided for in Articles 129 to 132.

Article 85

1. Without prejudice to Article 89, credit institutions and any parent undertaking and its subsidiaries shall implement the IRB Approach for all exposures.

Subject to the approval of the competent authorities, implementation may be carried out sequentially across the different exposure classes, referred to in Article 86, within the same business unit, across different business units in the same group or for the use of own estimates of LGDs or conversion factors for the calculation of risk weights for exposures to corporates, institutions, and central governments and central banks.

In the case of the retail exposure class referred to in Article 86, implementation may be carried out sequentially across the categories of exposures to which the different correlations in Annex VII, Part 1, paragraphs 9, 10 and 11 correspond.

2. Implementation as referred to in paragraph 1 shall be carried out within a reasonable period of time to be agreed with the competent authorities. The implementation shall be carried out subject to strict conditions determined by the competent authorities. Those conditions shall be designed to ensure that the flexibility under paragraph 1 is not used selectively with the purpose of achieving reduced minimum capital requirements in respect of those exposure classes or business units that are yet to be included in the IRB Approach or in the use of own estimates of LGDs and conversion factors.
3. Credit institutions using the IRB Approach for any exposure class shall at the same time use the IRB Approach for the equity exposure class.
4. Subject to paragraphs 1 to 3 and Article 89, credit institutions which have obtained permission under Article 84 to use the IRB Approach shall not revert to the use of Subsection 1 for the calculation of risk-weighted exposure amounts except for demonstrated good cause and subject to the approval of the competent authorities.
5. Subject to paragraphs 1 and 2 and Article 89, credit institutions which have obtained permission under Article 87(9) to use own estimates of LGDs and conversion factors, shall not revert to the use of LGD values and conversion factors referred to in Article 87(8) except for demonstrated good cause and subject to the approval of the competent authorities.

Article 86

1. Each exposure shall be assigned to one of the following exposure classes:
 - (a) claims or contingent claims on central governments and central banks;
 - (b) claims or contingent claims on institutions;
 - (c) claims or contingent claims on corporates;
 - (d) retail claims or contingent retail claims;
 - (e) equity claims;
 - (f) securitisation positions;
 - (g) other non credit-obligation assets.
2. The following exposures shall be treated as exposures to central governments and central banks:
 - (a) exposures to regional governments and local authorities which are treated as exposures to central governments under Subsection 1;
 - (b) exposures to Multilateral Development Banks and International Organisations which attract a risk weight of 0% under Subsection 1.
3. The following exposures shall be treated as exposures to institutions:
 - (a) exposures to regional governments and local authorities which are not treated as exposures to central governments under Subsection 1;
 - (b) exposures to Public Sector Entities which are treated as exposures to institutions under the Subsection 1;
 - (c) exposures to Multilateral Development Banks which do not attract a 0% risk weight under Subsection 1.
4. To be eligible for the retail exposure class referred to in point (d) of paragraph 1, exposures shall meet the following criteria:
 - (a) they shall be either to an individual person or persons, or to a small or medium sized entity, provided in the latter case that the total amount owed to the credit institution and to any parent undertaking and its subsidiaries by the obligor client or group of connected clients does not, to the knowledge of the credit institution, which must have taken reasonable steps to confirm the situation, exceed EUR 1 million;
 - (b) they are treated by the credit institution in its risk management consistently over time and in a similar manner;
 - (c) they are not managed individually in a way comparable to exposures in the corporate exposure class;

(d) they each represent one of a significant number of similarly managed exposures.

5. The following exposures shall be classed as equity exposures:

(a) non-debt exposures conveying a subordinated, residual claim on the assets or income of the issuer;

(b) debt exposures the economic substance of which is similar to the exposures specified in point (a).

6. Within the corporate exposure class, credit institutions shall separately identify as specialised lending exposures, exposures which possess the following characteristics:

(a) the exposure is to an entity which was created specifically to finance and/or operate physical assets;

(b) the contractual arrangements give the lender a substantial degree of control over the assets and the income that they generate;

(c) the primary source of repayment of the obligation is the income generated by the assets being financed, rather than the independent capacity of a broader commercial enterprise.

7. Any credit obligation not assigned to the exposure classes referred to in points (a), (b) and (d) to (f) of paragraph 1 shall be assigned to the exposure class referred to in point (c) of that paragraph.

8. The exposure class referred to in point (g) of paragraph 1 shall include the residual value of leased properties, if not covered elsewhere in this Directive.

9. The methodology used by the credit institution for assigning exposures to different exposure classes shall be appropriate and consistent over time.

Article 87

1. The risk-weighted exposure amounts for credit risk for exposures belonging to one of the exposure classes referred to in points (a) to (e) or (g) of Article 86(1) shall, unless deducted from own funds, be calculated in accordance with Annex VII, Part 1, paragraphs 1 to 25.

2. The risk-weighted exposure amounts for dilution risk for purchased receivables shall be calculated according to Annex VII, Part 1, paragraph 26.

3. The calculation of risk-weighted exposure amounts for credit risk and dilution risk shall be based on the relevant parameters associated with the exposure in question. These shall include probability of default (PD), loss given default (LGD), maturity (M) and the exposure value of the exposure. PD and LGD may be considered separately or jointly, in accordance with Annex VII, Part 2.

4. Notwithstanding paragraph 3, the calculation of risk-weighted exposure amounts for credit risk for all exposures belonging to the exposure class referred to in point (e) of Article 86(1) shall be calculated in accordance with Annex VII, Part 1, paragraphs 15 to 24 subject to approval of competent authorities. Competent authorities shall only allow a credit institution to use the approach set out in Annex VII, Part 1, paragraphs 24 to 25, if the credit institution meets the minimum requirements Annex VII, Part 4, paragraphs 114 to 122.

5. Notwithstanding paragraph 3, the calculation of risk weighted exposure amounts for credit risk for specialised lending exposures may be calculated in accordance with Annex VII, Part 1, paragraph 5. Competent authorities shall publish guidance on how institutions should assign risk weights to specialised lending exposures under Annex VII, Part 1, paragraph 5 and shall approve institutions assignment methodologies.

6. For exposures belonging to the exposure classes referred to in points (a) to (d) of Article 86(1), credit institutions shall provide their own estimates of PDs in accordance with Article 84 and Annex VII, Part 4.

7. For exposures belonging to the exposure class referred to in point (d) of Article 86(1), credit institutions shall provide own estimates of LGDs and conversion factors in accordance with Article 84 and Annex VII, Part 4.

8. For exposures belonging to the exposure classes referred to in points (a) to (c) of Article 86(1), credit institutions shall apply the LGD values set out in Annex VII, Part 2, paragraph 8, and the conversion factors set out in Annex VII, Part 3, paragraph 11 points (a) to (c).

9. Notwithstanding paragraph 8, for all exposures belonging to the exposure classes referred to in points (a) to (c) of Article 86(1), competent authorities may permit credit institutions to use own estimates of LGDs and conversion factors in accordance with Article 84 and Annex VII, Part 4.

10. The risk-weighted exposure amounts for securitised exposures and for exposures belonging to the exposure class referred to in point (f) of Article 86(1) shall be calculated in accordance with Subsection 4.

11. Where exposures to a collective investment undertaking (CIU) meet the criteria set out in Annex VI, Part 1, paragraphs 74 to 75 and the credit institution is aware of all of the underlying exposures of the CIU, the credit institution shall look through to those underlying exposures in order to calculate risk-weighted exposure amounts and expected loss amounts in accordance with the methods set out in this Subsection.

Where the credit institution does not meet the conditions for using the methods set out in this Subsection, risk weighted exposure amounts and expected loss amounts shall be calculated in accordance with the following approaches:

- (a) for exposures belonging to the exposure class referred to in point (e) of Article 86(1), the approach set out in Annex VII, Part 1, paragraphs 17 to 19. If, for those purposes; the credit institution is unable to differentiate between private equity, exchange-traded and other equity exposures, it shall treat the exposures concerned as other equity exposures.

- (b) for all other underlying exposures, the approach set out in Subsection 1, subject to the following modifications:
 - (i) the exposures are assigned to the appropriate exposure class and attributed the risk weight of the credit quality step immediately above the credit quality step that would normally be assigned to the exposure;
 - (ii) exposures assigned to the higher credit quality steps, to which a risk weight of 150% would normally be attributed, are assigned a risk weight of 200%.

12. Where exposures to a CIU do not meet the criteria set out in Annex VI, Part 1, paragraphs 74 to 75, or the credit institution is not aware of all of the underlying exposures of the CIU, the credit institution shall look through to the underlying exposures and calculate risk-weighted exposure amounts and expected loss amounts in accordance with the approach set out in Annex VII, Part 1, paragraphs 17 to 19. If, for those purposes, the credit institution is unable to differentiate between private equity, exchange-traded and other equity exposures, it shall treat the exposures concerned as other equity exposures. For these purposes, non-equity exposures are assigned to one of the classes (private equity, exchange traded equity or other equity) set out in Annex VII, Part 1, paragraph 17 and unknown exposures are assigned to other equity class.

Alternatively to the method described above, credit institutions may rely on a third party to calculate and report the average risk weighted exposure amounts based on the CIUs underlying exposures and calculated in accordance with the following approaches, provided that the correctness of the calculation and the report is adequately ensured:

- (a) for exposures belonging to the exposure class referred to in point (e) of Article 86(1), the approach set out in Annex VII, Part 1, paragraphs 17 to 19. If, for those purposes, the credit institution is unable to differentiate between private equity, exchange-traded and other equity exposures, it shall treat the exposures concerned as other equity exposures.
- (b) for all other underlying exposures, the approach set out in Subsection 1, subject to the following modifications:
 - (i) the exposures are assigned to the appropriate exposure class and attributed the risk weight of the credit quality step immediately above the credit quality step that would normally be assigned to the exposure;
 - (ii) exposures assigned to the higher credit quality steps, to which a risk weight of 150% would normally be attributed, are assigned a risk weight of 200%.

Article 88

1. The expected loss amounts for exposures belonging to one of the exposure classes referred to in points (a) to (e) of Article 86(1) shall be calculated in accordance with the methods set out in Annex VII, Part 1, paragraphs 27 to 33.

2. The calculation of expected loss amounts in accordance with Annex VII, Part 1, paragraphs 27 to 33 shall be based on the same input figures of PD, LGD and the exposure value for each exposure as being used for the calculation of risk-weighted exposure amounts in accordance with Article 87.

3. The expected loss amounts for securitised exposures shall be calculated in accordance with Subsection 4.

4. The expected loss amount for exposures belonging to the exposure class referred to in point (g) of Article 86(1) shall be zero.

5. The expected loss amounts for dilution risk of purchased receivables shall be calculated in accordance with the methods set out in Annex VII, Part 1, paragraph 33.

6. The expected loss amounts for exposures referred to in Article 87(11) and (12) shall be calculated in accordance with the methods set out in Annex VII, Part 1, paragraphs 27 to 33.

Article 89

1. Subject to the approval of the competent authorities, credit institutions permitted to use the IRB Approach in the calculation of risk-weighted exposure amounts and expected loss amounts for one or more exposure classes may apply Subsection 1 for the following:

- (a) the exposure class referred to in point (a) of Article 86(1), where the number of material counterparties is limited and it would be unduly burdensome for the credit institution to implement a rating system for these counterparties;
- (b) the exposure class referred to in point (b) of Article 86(1), where the number of material counterparties is limited and it would be unduly burdensome for the credit institution to implement a rating system for these counterparties;
- (c) exposures in non-significant business units as well as exposure classes that are immaterial in terms of size and perceived risk profile;
- (d) exposures to central governments of the home Member State and to their regional governments, local authorities and administrative bodies, provided that:
 - (i) there is no difference in risk between the exposures to that central government and those other exposures because of specific public arrangements;
 - (ii) exposures to the central government are associated with credit quality assessment step 1 under Subsection 1.
- (e) exposures of a credit institution to a counterparty which is its parent undertaking, its subsidiary or a subsidiary of its parent undertaking provided that the counterparty is an institution or a financial holding company, financial institution, asset management company or ancillary services undertaking subject to appropriate prudential requirements.

- f) equity exposures to entities whose credit obligations qualify for a zero risk weight under Subsection 1 (including those publicly sponsored entities where a zero weight can be applied).
- g) equity exposures incurred under legislated programmes to promote specified sectors of the economy that provide significant subsidies for the investment to the credit institution and involve some form of government oversight and restrictions on the equity investments. This exclusion is limited to an aggregate of 10% of original own funds plus additional own funds.

This paragraph shall not prevent the competent authorities of other Member State to allow the application of the rules of Subsection 1 for equity exposures which have been allowed for this treatment in other Member States.

2. For the purposes of point (c), the equity exposure class of a credit institution shall be considered material if their aggregate value, excluding equity exposures incurred under legislative programmes as referred to in point (g), exceeds, on average over the preceding year, 10% of the credit institution's own funds. If the number of those equity exposures is less than 10 individual holdings, that threshold shall be 5% of the credit institution's own funds.

SUBSECTION 3 - CREDIT RISK MITIGATION

Article 90

For the purposes of this Subsection, 'lending credit institution' shall mean the credit institution which has the exposure in question, whether or not deriving from a loan.

Article 91

Credit institutions using the Standardised Approach under Articles 78 to 83 or using the IRB Approach under Articles 84 to 89, but not using their own estimates of LGD and conversion factors under Articles 87 and 88, may recognise credit risk mitigation in accordance with this Subsection in the calculation of risk-weighted exposure amounts for the purposes of Article 75 point (a) or as relevant expected loss amounts for the purposes of the calculation referred to in point (q) of Article 57, and Article 63(3).

Article 92

1. The technique used to provide the credit protection together with the actions and steps taken and procedures and policies implemented by the lending credit institution shall be such as to result in credit protection arrangements which are legally effective and enforceable in all relevant jurisdictions.
2. The lending credit institution shall take all appropriate steps to ensure the effectiveness of the credit protection arrangement and to address related risks.
3. In the case of funded credit protection, to be eligible for recognition the assets relied upon must be sufficiently liquid and their value over time sufficiently stable to provide appropriate certainty as to the credit protection achieved having regard to the approach used to calculate risk-weighted exposure amounts and to the degree of recognition allowed. Eligibility shall be limited to the assets set out in Annex VIII, Part 1.

4. In the case of funded credit protection, the lending credit institution shall have the right to liquidate or retain, in a timely manner, the assets from which the protection derives in the event of the default, insolvency or bankruptcy - or other credit event set out in the transaction documentation - and, where applicable, of the custodian holding the collateral. The degree of correlation between the value of the assets relied upon for protection and the credit quality of the borrower must not be undue.
5. In the case of unfunded credit protection, to be eligible for recognition the party giving the undertaking must be sufficiently reliable, and the protection agreement legally effective in the relevant jurisdictions, to provide appropriate certainty as to the credit protection achieved having regard to the approach used to calculate risk-weighted exposure amounts and to the degree of recognition allowed. Eligibility shall be limited to the protection providers and types of protection agreement set out in Annex VIII, Part 1.
6. The minimum requirements set out in Annex VIII, Part 2 shall be complied with.

Article 93

1. Where the requirements of Article 92 are met the calculation of risk-weighted exposure amounts, and, as relevant, expected loss amounts, may be modified in accordance with Annex VIII, Parts 3 to 6.
2. No exposure in respect of which credit risk mitigation is obtained shall produce a higher risk-weighted exposure amount or expected loss amount than an otherwise identical exposure in respect of which there is no credit risk mitigation.
3. Where the risk-weighted exposure amount already takes account of credit protection under Articles 78 to 83 or Articles 84 to 93, as relevant, the calculation of the credit protection shall not be further recognised under this Subsection.

SUBSECTION 4 - SECURITISATION

Article 94

Where a credit institution uses the Standardised Approach set out in Subsection 1 for the calculation of risk-weighted exposure amounts for the exposure class to which the securitised exposures would be assigned under Article 79, it shall calculate the risk-weighted exposure amount for a securitisation position in accordance with Annex IX, Part 4, paragraphs 6 to 35.

In all other cases, it shall calculate the risk-weighted exposure amount in accordance with Annex IX, Part 4, paragraphs 36 to 74.

Article 95

1. Where significant credit risk associated with securitised exposures has been transferred from the originator credit institution in accordance with the terms of Annex IX, Part 2, that credit institution may:

- (a) in the case of a traditional securitisation, exclude from its calculation of risk-weighted exposure amounts, and, as relevant, expected loss amounts, the exposures which it has securitised;
- (b) in the case of a synthetic securitisation, calculate risk-weighted exposure amounts, and, as relevant, expected loss amounts, in respect of the securitised exposures in accordance with Annex IX, part 2.

2. Where paragraph 1 applies, the originator credit institution shall calculate the risk-weighted exposure amounts prescribed in Annex IX for the positions that it may hold in the securitisation.

Where the originator credit institution fails to transfer significant credit risk in accordance with paragraph 1, it need not calculate risk-weighted exposure amounts for any positions it may have in the securitisation in question.

Article 96

1. To calculate the risk-weighted exposure amount of a securitisation position, risk weights shall be applied to the exposure value of the position in accordance with Annex IX, based on the credit quality of the position, which may be determined by reference to an ECAI credit assessment or otherwise, as set out in Annex IX.

2. Where there is an exposure to different tranches in a securitisation, the exposure to each tranche shall be considered a separate securitisation position. The providers of credit protection to securitisation positions shall be considered to hold positions in the securitisation. Securitisation positions shall include exposures to a securitisation arising from interest rate or currency derivative contracts.

3. Where a securitisation position is subject to funded or unfunded credit protection the risk-weight to be applied to that position may be modified in accordance with Articles 90 to 93, read in conjunction with Annex IX.

4. Subject to point (r) of Article 57 and Article 66(2), the risk-weighted exposure amount shall be included in the credit institution's total of risk-weighted exposure amounts for the purposes of Article 75(a).

Article 97

1. An ECAI credit assessment may be used to determine the risk weight of a securitisation position in accordance with Article 96 only if the ECAI has been recognised as eligible by the competent authorities for this purpose, hereinafter "an eligible ECAI".

2. The competent authorities shall recognise an ECAI as eligible for the purposes of paragraph 1 only if they are satisfied as to its compliance with the requirements laid down in Article 81, taking into account the technical criteria in Annex VI, Part 2, and that it has a demonstrated ability in the area of securitisation, which may be evidenced by a strong market acceptance.

3. If an ECAI has been recognised as eligible by the competent authorities of a Member State for the purposes of paragraph 1, the competent authorities of other Member States may recognise that ECAI as eligible for those purposes without carrying out their own evaluation process.

4. The competent authorities shall make publicly available an explanation of the recognition process and a list of eligible ECAIs.

5. To be used for this purpose a credit assessment of an eligible ECAI shall comply with the principles of credibility and transparency as elaborated in Annex IX, Part 3.

Article 98

1. For the purposes of applying risk weights to securitisation positions, the competent authorities shall determine with which of the credit quality steps set out in Annex IX the relevant credit assessments of an eligible ECAI are to be associated. Those determinations shall be objective and consistent.

2. When the competent authorities of a Member State have made a determination under paragraph 1, the competent authorities of other Member States may recognise that determination without carrying out their own determination process.

Article 99

The use of ECAI credit assessments for the calculation of a credit institution's risk-weighted exposure amounts under Article 96 shall be consistent and in accordance with Annex IX, Part 3. Credit assessments shall not be used selectively.

Article 100

1. Where there is a securitisation of revolving exposures subject to an early amortisation provision, the originator credit institution or sponsor credit institution shall calculate, in accordance with Annex IX, an additional risk-weighted exposure amount in respect of the risk that the levels of credit risk to which it is exposed may increase following the operation of the early amortisation provision.

2. For those purposes, a revolving exposure shall be an exposure whereby a customer may vary the amount drawn within an agreed limit, and an early amortisation provision shall be a contractual clause which requires, on the occurrence of defined events, investors' positions to be redeemed before the originally stated maturity of the securities issued.

3. In the case of securitisations subjects to an early amortisation provision of retail exposures which are uncommitted and unconditionally cancellable without prior notice, where the early amortisation is triggered by a quantitative value in respect of something other than the three months average excess spread, the competent authorities may apply a treatment which approximates closely to that prescribed in Annex IX, Part 4, paragraphs 27 to 30 for determining the conversion figure indicated.
4. Where a competent authority intends to apply a treatment in accordance with paragraph 3 in respect of a particular securitisation, it shall first of all inform the relevant competent authorities of all the other Member States. Before the application of such a treatment becomes part of the general policy approach of the competent authority to securitisations containing early amortisation clauses of the type in question, the competent authority shall consult the relevant competent authorities of all the other member States and take into consideration the views expressed. The views expressed in such consultation and the treatment adopted shall be publicly disclosed by the competent authority in question.

Article 101

1. An originator credit institution or sponsor credit institution shall not, with a view to reducing potential or actual losses to investors, provide support to the securitisation beyond its contractual obligations.
2. If an originator credit institution or a sponsor credit institution fails to comply with paragraph 1 in respect of a securitisation, the competent authority shall require it at a minimum, to hold capital against all of the securitised exposures as if they had not been securitised. The credit institution shall disclose publicly that it has provided non-contractual support and the regulatory capital impact of having done so.

SECTION 4

MINIMUM OWN FUNDS REQUIREMENTS FOR OPERATIONAL RISK

Article 102

1. Competent authorities shall require credit institutions to hold own funds against operational risk in accordance with the approaches set out in Articles 103, 104 and 105.
2. Without prejudice to paragraph 4, credit institutions that use the approach set out in Article 104 shall not revert to the use of the approach set out in Article 103, except for demonstrated good cause and subject to approval by the competent authorities.
3. Without prejudice to paragraph 4, credit institutions that use the approach set out in Article 105 shall not revert to the use of the approaches set out in Articles 103 or 104 except for demonstrated good cause and subject to approval by the competent authorities.

4. Competent authorities may allow credit institutions to use a combination of approaches in accordance with Annex X, Part 4.

Article 103

The capital requirement for operational risk under the Basic Indicator Approach shall be a certain percentage of a relevant indicator, in accordance with the parameters set out in Annex X, Part 1.

Article 104

1. Under the Standardised Approach, credit institutions shall divide their activities into a number of business lines as set out in Annex X, Part 2.

2. For each business line, credit institutions shall calculate a capital requirement for operational risk as a certain percentage of a relevant indicator, in accordance with the parameters set out in Annex X, Part 2.

3. For certain business lines, the competent authorities may under certain conditions authorise a credit institution to use an alternative indicator for determining its capital requirement for operational risk.

4. The capital requirement for operational risk under the Standardised Approach shall be the sum of the capital requirements for operational risk across all individual business lines.

5. The parameters for the Standardised Approach are in Annex X, Part 2.

6. To qualify for use of the Standardised Approach, credit institutions shall meet the criteria set out in Annex X, Part 2.

Article 105

1. Credit institutions may use Advanced Measurement Approaches based on their own internal risk measurement systems, provided that the competent authority expressly approves the use of the models concerned for calculating the own funds requirement.

2. Credit institutions must satisfy their competent authorities that they meet the qualifying criteria set out in Annex X, Part 3.

3. When an Advanced Measurement Approach is intended to be used by an EU parent credit institution and its subsidiaries or by the subsidiaries of an EU parent financial holding company, the competent authorities of the different legal entities shall cooperate closely as provided for in Articles 128 to 132. The application shall include the elements listed in Annex X, Part 3.

4. Where an EU parent credit institution and its subsidiaries or an EU parent financial institution and its subsidiaries use an Advanced Measurement Approach on a unified basis for the parent and its subsidiaries, the competent authorities may allow the qualifying criteria set out in Annex X, Part 3 to be met by the parent and its subsidiaries considered together.

Article 114

1. Subject to paragraph 3, for the purposes of calculating the value of exposures for the purposes of Article 111(1) to (3) Member States may, in respect of credit institutions using the Financial Collateral (Comprehensive Method) under Articles 90 to 93, in the alternative to availing of the full or partial exemptions permitted under points (f), (g), (h), and (o) of Article 113(3), permit such credit institutions to use a value lower than the value of the exposure, but no lower than the total of the fully-adjusted exposure values of their exposures to the client or group of connected clients.

For these purposes ‘fully adjusted exposure value’ means that calculated under Articles 90 to 93 taking into account the credit risk mitigation, volatility adjustments, and any maturity mismatch (E*).

Where this paragraph is applied to a credit institution, points (f), (g), (h), and (o) of Article 113(3) shall not apply to the credit institution in question.

2. Subject to paragraph 3, a credit institution permitted to use own estimates of LGDs and conversion factors for an exposure class under Articles 84 to 89 may be permitted, where it is able to the satisfaction of the competent authorities to estimate the effects of financial collateral on their exposures separately from other LGD-relevant aspects, to recognise such effects in calculating the value of exposures for the purposes of Article 113(3).

Competent authorities shall be satisfied as to the suitability of the estimates produced by the credit institution for use for the reduction of the exposure value for the purposes of compliance with the provisions of Article 111.

Where a credit institution is permitted to use its own estimates of the effects of financial collateral, it must do so on a consistent basis to the satisfaction of the competent authorities. In particular, this approach must be adopted for all large exposures.

Credit institutions permitted to use own estimates of LGDs and conversion factors for an exposure class under Articles 84 to 89 which does not calculate the value of their exposures using the method referred to in the first subparagraph, may be permitted to use the approach set out in paragraph 9(1) above or the approach set out in point (o) of Article 113(3) above for calculating the value of exposures. A credit institution shall use only one of these two methods.

3. A credit institution which is permitted to use the methods described in paragraphs 1 and 2 in calculating the value of exposures for the purposes of Article 111(1) to (3) shall conduct periodic stress tests of their credit risk concentrations including in relation to the realisable value of any collateral taken.

These shall address risks arising from potential changes in market conditions that could adversely impact the credit institutions' adequacy of own funds and risks arising from the realisation of collateral in stressed situations.

The credit institution shall satisfy the competent authorities that the stress tests carried out are adequate and appropriate for the assessment of such risks.

In the event that such a stress test indicates a lower realisable value of collateral taken than would be permitted to be taken into account under paragraphs 2 and 3 as appropriate, the value of collateral permitted to be recognised in calculating the value of exposures for the purposes of Article 111(1) to (3) shall be reduced accordingly.

Such credit institutions shall include the following in their strategies to address concentration risk:

- (a) policies and procedures to address risks arising from maturity mismatches between exposures and any credit protection on those exposures;
- (b) policies and procedures relating to concentration risk arising from the application of credit risk mitigation techniques, and in particular large indirect credit exposures (e.g. to a single issuer of securities taken as collateral).

4. Where the effects of collateral are recognised under the terms of paragraphs 1 or 2 above, Member States may treat any covered part of the exposure as having been incurred to the collateral issuer rather than to the client.

~~Article 62~~

~~Transitional provisions regarding Article 43~~

~~1. Until 31 December 2006, the competent authorities of the Member States may authorise their credit institutions to apply a 50% risk weighting to loans fully and completely secured to their satisfaction by mortgages on offices or on multi-purpose commercial premises situated within the territory of those Member States that allow the 50% risk weighting, subject to the following conditions:~~

~~(i) the 50% risk weighting applies to the part of the loan that does not exceed a limit calculated according to either (a) or (b):~~

~~(a) 50% of the market value of the property in question.~~

~~The market value of the property must be calculated by two independent valuers making independent assessments at the time the loan is made. The loan must be based on the lower of the two valuations.~~

~~The property shall be revalued at least once a year by one valuer. For loans not exceeding EUR 1 million and 5% of the own funds of the credit institution, the property shall be revalued at least every three years by one valuer.~~

~~(b) 50% of the market value of the property or 60% of the mortgage lending value, whichever is lower, in those Member States that have laid down rigorous criteria for the assessment of the mortgage lending value in statutory or regulatory provisions.~~

~~The mortgage lending value shall mean the value of the property as determined by a valuer making a prudent assessment of the future marketability of the property by taking into account long-term sustainable aspects of the property, the normal and local market conditions, the current use and alternative appropriate uses of the property. Speculative elements shall not be taken into account in the assessment of the mortgage lending value. The mortgage lending value shall be documented in a transparent and clear manner.~~

~~At least every three years or if the market falls by more than 10% the mortgage lending value and in particular the underlying assumptions concerning the development of the relevant market, shall be reassessed.~~

~~In both (a) and (b) «market value» shall mean the price at which the property could be sold under private contract between a willing seller and an arm's-length buyer on the date of valuation, it being assumed that the property is publicly exposed to the market, that market conditions permit orderly disposal and that a normal period, having regard to the nature of the property, is available for the negotiation of the sale;~~

~~(ii) the 100% risk weighting applies to the part of the loan that exceeds the limits set out in (i);~~

~~(iii) the property must be either used or let by the owner.~~

~~The first subparagraph shall not prevent the competent authorities of a Member State, which applies a higher risk weighting in its territory, from allowing, under the conditions defined above, the 50% risk weighting to apply for this type of lending in the territories of those Member States that allow the 50% risk weighting.~~

~~The competent authorities of the Member States may allow their credit institutions to apply a 50% risk weighting to the loans outstanding on 21 July 2000 provided that the conditions listed in this paragraph are fulfilled. In this case the property shall be valued according to the assessment criteria laid down above not later than 21 July 2003.~~

~~For loans granted before 31 December 2006, the 50% risk weighting remains applicable until their maturity, if the credit institution is bound to observe the contractual terms.~~

Where the discretion referred to in paragraph 7 is exercised the capital requirement for operational risk under Article 75(e) shall be reduced by the percentage representing the ratio of the value of the credit institution's exposures for which risk-weighted exposure amounts are calculated in accordance with the discretion referred to in paragraph 7 to the total value of its exposures.

11. Where a credit institution calculates risk-weighted exposure amounts for all of its exposures in accordance with the discretion referred to in paragraph 7, Articles 48 to 50 of Directive 2000/12/EC relating to large exposures may apply as they stood prior to the date referred to in Article 157;

12. Where the discretion referred to in paragraph 7 is exercised, references to Articles 46 to 52 of this Directive shall be read as references to Articles 42 to 46 of Directive 2000/12/EC as those articles stood prior to the date referred to in Article 157.

Article 153

In the calculation of risk-weighted exposure amounts for exposures arising from property leasing transactions concerning offices or other commercial premises situated in their territory and meeting the criteria set out in Annex VI, Part 1, paragraph 51, the competent authorities may, until 31 December 2012 allow a 50% risk weighting to be applied without the application of Annex VI, Part 1, paragraphs 55 and 56.

Until 31 December 2010, competent authorities may, for the purpose of defining the secured portion of a past due loan for the purposes of Annex VI, recognise collateral other than eligible collateral as set out under Articles 90 to 93.

Article 154

1. The requirements in Article 84(3) and (4) shall apply from the 31 December 2009.

2. Until 31 December 2010 the exposure weighted average LGD for all retail exposures secured by residential properties and not benefiting from guarantees from central governments shall not be lower than 10%.

3. Until 31 December 2017, the competent authorities of the Member States may exempt from the IRB treatment certain equity exposures held at 31 December 2007.

The exempted position shall be measured as the number of shares as of that date and any additional arising directly as a result of owning those holdings, as long as they do not increase the proportional share of ownership in a portfolio company.

If an acquisition increases the proportional share of ownership in a specific holding the exceeding part of the holding shall not be subject to the exemption. Nor shall the exemption apply to holdings that were originally subject to the exemption, but have been sold and then bought back.

Equity exposures covered by this transitional provision shall be subject to the capital requirements calculated in accordance with Title V, Chapter 2, Section 3, Subsection 1.

4. Until 31 December 2011, for corporate exposures the competent authorities of each Member State may set the number of days past due that all credit institutions in its jurisdiction shall abide by under the definition of default set out in Annex VII, Part 4, paragraph 44 for exposures to such counterparts situated within this Member State. The specific number shall fall within 90- up to a figure of 180 days if local conditions make it appropriate. For exposures to such counterparts situated in the territories of other Member States, the competent authorities shall set a number of days past due which is not higher than the number set by the competent authority of the respective Member State.

5. In respect of the observation period referred to in Annex VII, Part 4, paragraph 66, Member States may allow credit institutions which are not permitted to use own estimates of LGDs or conversion factors to have, when they implement the IRB Approach, but at the latest at the 31 December 2007, relevant data covering a period of two years. Until 31 December 2010 the period to be covered shall increase by one year each year.

6. In respect of the observation period referred to in Annex VII, Part 4, paragraphs 71, 85 and 94 Member States may allow credit institutions to have, when they implement the IRB Approach, but at the latest at the 31 December 2007, relevant data covering a period of two years. Until 31 December 2010 the period to be covered shall increase by one year each year.

Article 155

Until 31 December 2012, for credit institutions the relevant indicator for the trading and sales business line of which represents at least 50% of the total of the relevant indicators for all of its business lines accordance with Annex X, Part 2, paragraphs 1 to 8, Member States may apply a percentage of 15% to the business line “trading and sales”.

CHAPTER 2

THE TREATMENT OF ~~OFF-BALANCE SHEET ITEMS~~ ⇒ DERIVATIVE INSTRUMENTS ←

1. CHOICE OF THE METHOD

To ~~measure the credit risks associated with~~ ⇒ determine the exposure value of ⇐ the contracts listed in points 1 and 2 of Annex IV, credit institutions may choose, subject to the consent of the competent authorities, one of the methods set out in this Annex below. Credit institutions which have to comply with Article ~~6(1)~~ 33(1) and (2) of Directive 93/6/EEC³⁵ must use method 1 set out in this Annex below. To ~~measure the credit risks associated with~~ ⇒ determine the exposure value for ⇐ the contracts listed in point 3 of Annex IV all credit institutions must use method 1 set out in this Annex below.

↓ new

Contracts traded on recognised exchanges, and foreign-exchange contracts (except contracts concerning gold) with an original maturity of 14 calendar days or less are exempt from the application of the methods set out in this Annex and shall be attributed an exposure value of zero.

Competent authorities may exempt from the application of the methods set out in this Annex and attribute an exposure value of zero to over-the-counter (OTC) contracts cleared by a clearing house where the latter acts as the legal counterparty and all participants fully collateralise on a daily basis the exposure they present to the clearing house, thereby providing a protection covering both the current exposure and the potential future exposure.

The posted collateral must:

- (a) qualify for a 0% risk weight, or
- (b) be cash deposits placed with the lending institution, or
- (c) be certificates of deposit or similar instruments issued by and lodged with the latter.

The competent authorities must be satisfied that the risk of a build-up of the clearing house's exposures beyond the market value of posted collateral is eliminated.

³⁵ ~~Council Directive 93/6/EEC of 15 March 1993 on the capital adequacy of investment firms and credit institutions (OJ L 141, 11.6.1993, p. 1). Directive amended by Directive 98/33/EC (OJ L 204, 21.7.1998, p. 29).~~

2. METHODS

Method 1: the «mark to market» approach

Step (a): by attaching current market values to contracts (mark to market), the current replacement cost of all contracts with positive values is obtained.

Step (b): to obtain a figure for potential future credit exposure³⁶, except in the case of single-currency «floating/floating» interest rate swaps in which only the current replacement cost will be calculated, the notional principal amounts or underlying values are multiplied by the following percentages in Table 1 :

Residual maturity ³⁹	Interest-rate contracts	Contracts concerning foreign-exchange rates and gold	Contracts concerning equities	Contracts concerning precious metals except gold	Contracts concerning commodities other than precious metals
One year or less	0%	1%	6%	7%	10%
Over one year, less than five years	0,5%	5%	8%	7%	12%
Over five years	1,5%	7,5%	10%	8%	15%

For the purpose of calculating the potential future exposure in accordance with step (b) the competent authorities may allow credit institutions until 31 December 2006 to apply the following percentages instead of those prescribed in Table 1 provided that

³⁶ ~~Except in the case of single-currency «floating/floating» interest rate swaps in which only the current replacement cost will be calculated.~~

³⁷ Contracts which do not fall within one of the five categories indicated in this table shall be treated as contracts concerning commodities other than precious metals.

³⁹ For contracts that are structured to settle outstanding exposure following specified payment dates and where the terms are reset such that the market value of the contract is zero on these specified dates, the residual maturity would be equal to the time until the next reset date. In the case of interest-rate contracts that meet these criteria and have a remaining maturity of over one year, the percentage shall be no lower than 0,5%.

the institutions make use of the option set out in Article 11a of Directive 93/6/EEC for contracts within the meaning of paragraph 3(b) and (c) of Annex IV:

TABLE 1a
Residual maturity	Precious metals (except gold)	Base metals	Agricultural products (softs)	Other, including energy products
One year or less	2%	2,5%	3%	4%
Over one year, less than five years	5%	4%	5%	6%
Over five years	7,5%	8%	9%	10%

↓ 2000/12/EC (adapted)

Step (c): the sum of current replacement cost and potential future credit exposure ~~is multiplied by the risk weightings allocated to the relevant counterparties in Article 43~~ is the exposure value.

↓ 2000/12/EC (adapted)

Method 2: the «original exposure» approach

Step (a): the notional principal amount of each instrument is multiplied by the percentages given in Table 2 below:

TABLE 2
Original maturity ⁴⁰	Interest-rate contracts	Contracts concerning foreign-exchange rates and gold
One year or less	0,5%	2%
More than one year but not exceeding two years	1%	5%
Additional allowance for each additional year	1%	3%

↓ 2000/12/EC
⇒ new

Step (b): the original exposure thus obtained ~~is multiplied by the risk weightings allocated to the relevant counterparties in Article 43~~ shall be the exposure value

⁴⁰ In the case of interest-rate contracts, credit institutions may, subject to the consent of their competent authorities, choose either original or residual maturity.

For methods 1 and 2 the competent authorities must ensure that the notional amount to be taken into account is an appropriate yardstick for the risk inherent in the contract. Where, for instance, the contract provides for a multiplication of cash flows, the notional amount must be adjusted in order to take into account the effects of the multiplication on the risk structure of that contract.

↓ 2000/12/EC (adapted)

3. CONTRACTUAL NETTING (CONTRACTS FOR NOVATION AND OTHER NETTING AGREEMENTS)

(a) Types of netting that competent authorities may recognise

For the purpose of this ~~section~~ ~~point 3~~ section ~~point 3~~ «counterparty» means any entity (including natural persons) that has the power to conclude a contractual netting agreement.

The competent authorities may recognise as risk-reducing the following types of contractual netting:

- (i) bilateral contracts for novation between a credit institution and its counterparty under which mutual claims and obligations are automatically amalgamated in such a way that this novation fixes one single net amount each time novation applies and thus creates a legally binding, single new contract extinguishing former contracts;
- (ii) other bilateral agreements between a credit institution and its counterparty.

(b) Conditions for recognition

The competent authorities may recognise contractual netting as risk-reducing only under the following conditions:

- (i) a credit institution must have a contractual netting agreement with its counterparty which creates a single legal obligation, covering all included transactions, such that, in the event of a counterparty's failure to perform owing to default, bankruptcy, liquidation or any other similar circumstance, the credit institution would have a claim to receive or an obligation to pay only the net sum of the positive and negative mark-to-market values of included individual transactions;
- (ii) a credit institution must have made available to the competent authorities written and reasoned legal opinions to the effect that, in the event of a legal challenge, the relevant courts and administrative authorities would, in the cases described under (i), find that the credit institution's claims and obligations would be limited to the net sum, as described in (i), under:
 - the law of the jurisdiction in which the counterparty is incorporated and, if a foreign branch of an undertaking is involved, also under the law of the jurisdiction in which the branch is located;
 - the law that governs the individual transactions included; ~~and~~

- the law that governs any contract or agreement necessary to effect the contractual netting;
- (iii) a credit institution must have procedures in place to ensure that the legal validity of its contractual netting is kept under review in the light of possible changes in the relevant laws.

The competent authorities must be satisfied, if necessary after consulting the other competent authorities concerned, that the contractual netting is legally valid under the law of each of the relevant jurisdictions. If any of the competent authorities are not satisfied in that respect, the contractual netting agreement will not be recognised as risk-reducing for either of the counterparties.

The competent authorities may accept reasoned legal opinions drawn up by types of contractual netting.

No contract containing a provision which permits a non-defaulting counterparty to make limited payments only, or no payments at all, to the estate of the defaulter, even if the defaulter is a net creditor (a «walkaway» clause), may be recognised as risk-reducing.

The competent authorities may recognise as risk-reducing contractual-netting agreements covering foreign-exchange contracts with an original maturity of 14 calendar days or less written options or similar off-balance-sheet items to which this Annex does not apply because they bear only a negligible or no credit risk. If, depending on the positive or negative market value of these contracts, their inclusion in another netting agreement can result in an increase or decrease of the capital requirements, competent authorities must oblige their credit institution to use a consistent treatment.

(c) Effects of recognition

(i) Contracts for novation

The single net amounts fixed by contracts for novation, rather than the gross amounts involved, may be weighted. Thus, in the application of method 1, in

- step (a): the current replacement cost, and in
- step (b): the notional principal amounts or underlying values may be obtained taking account of the contract for novation. In the application of method 2, in step (a) the notional principal amount may be calculated taking account of the contract for novation; the percentages of Table 2 must apply.

(ii) Other netting agreements

In application of method 1:

- in step (a) the current replacement cost for the contracts included in a netting agreement may be obtained by taking account of the actual hypothetical net replacement cost which results from the agreement; in the case where netting leads to a net obligation for the credit institution calculating the net replacement cost, the current replacement cost is calculated as «0»,

- in step (b) the figure for potential future credit exposure for all contracts included in a netting agreement may be reduced according to the following equation: $PCE_{red} = 0.4 * PCE_{gross} + 0.6 * NGR * PCE_{gross}$ where:

—	PCE_{red}	=	the reduced figure for potential future credit exposure for all contracts with a given counterparty included in a legally valid bilateral netting agreement
—	PCE_{gross}	=	the sum of the figures for potential future credit exposure for all contracts with a given counterparty which are included in a legally valid bilateral netting agreement and are calculated by multiplying their notional principal amounts by the percentages set out in Table 1
—	NGR	=	«net-to-gross ratio»: at the discretion of the competent authorities either: (i) separate calculation: the quotient of the net replacement cost for all contracts included in a legally valid bilateral netting agreement with a given counterparty (numerator) and the gross replacement cost for all contracts included in a legally valid bilateral netting agreement with that counterparty (denominator), or (ii) aggregate calculation: the quotient of the sum of the net replacement cost calculated on a bilateral basis for all counterparties taking into account the contracts included in legally valid netting agreements (numerator) and the gross replacement cost for all contracts included in legally valid netting agreements (denominator). If Member States permit credit institutions a choice of methods, the method chosen is to be used consistently.

For the calculation of the potential future credit exposure according to the above formula perfectly matching contracts included in the netting agreement may be taken into account as a single contract with a notional principal equivalent to the net receipts. Perfectly matching contracts are forward foreign-exchange contracts or similar contracts in which a notional principal is equivalent to cash flows if the cash flows fall due on the same value date and fully or partly in the same currency.

In the application of method 2, in step (a)

- perfectly matching contracts included in the netting agreement may be taken into account as a single contract with a notional principal equivalent to the net receipts, the notional principal amounts are multiplied by the percentages given in Table 2,
- for all other contracts included in a netting agreement, the percentages applicable may be reduced as indicated in Table 3:

TABLE 3
Original maturity ⁴¹	Interest-rate contracts	Foreign-exchange contracts
One year or less	0.35%	1.50%
More than one year but not more than two years	0.75%	3.75%
Additional allowance for each additional year	0.75%	2.25%
